

It has been my pleasure to serve the Bloomington community for the past 31 years in our family owned optometry practice. I have been privileged to meet and develop friendships with many wonderful people over these many years. But, now it is time for me to retire and pass along the practice to my very capable son and business partner. Many of you already know Dr. Zachary Short, as he has been seeing patients in both the Bloomington and Mitchell offices since 2006. He will continue to provide the same high quality of patient care that you have come to know at Insights Optical for over 30 years. We will also be introducing a new IU Optometry graduate, Dr. Madison Witthoft, who will work with Dr. Zac in the practice.

I very much appreciate your loyalty throughout the years and will take many wonderful memories with me into my retirement. We expect to have Dr. Witthoft starting with us the first part of July, so I will continue seeing patients until that time. Thank you again for allowing me to serve your vision needs for many wonderful years.

Sincerely,

Dr. Diane Short
